sony w410 software music catalog sony mp3 atrac walkman 3 plusTo be honest, it is not easy to explain everything I put into a picture. All the messages that you get, from looking at my pictures, are very important. They are my first steps into something creative. Every picture is as much about me as it is about my message. Having a friend in just about every country you visit is an amazing thing. I wish there were more people that I got to know first. There is never a time when you know that an artist is going to go far in life. They usually have that special something about them, that I admire so much. I know that you will ask, so I shall tell you. I am a painter, a photographer, and a writer. I like to draw, paint and write. I like to put into a picture all of the feelings that I have when I do anything. I also like to write. I can write a lot. You know that poem that you have been writing, that you have been working on, and that you could finish writing with out actually looking at it. That is kind of how I feel when I write a poem, or a story. I love to write things. The stories that we call stories are sometimes just a simple story. Even when I am writing a note to you, I am really writing my feelings about you and about what I am going to do with you. I want to be able to read those things to you one day and know what I am talking about.Q: Sort through and get most frequent string value in list def main(args): files = os.listdir(args.folder) files = sorted(files, key = File.read(str(args.folder + '/name')).count) print('most frequent string value = %s' % ".join([file for file in files])) if __name__ == "__main__": main(sys.argv[1:]) That is what i came up with so far. I would like it to print most frequent string value of files that are in a folder. Right now it seems to be empty. Is there anything wrong? A: You have to convert file to the list - look in the sorted function. Also,
